Narberth Loses First League Game to Paoli

Wintry Blasts Sweep Field
as Westerners Take Verdict, 6-1

DOUBLE-HEADER SAT.

By DAVE CASEY

The chill winds of last Saturday completely congealed the winning streak of Gene Davis' champions, when the strong Paoli club, runners-up for the league title last year, downed the home boys by a score of 6-1.

The day was totally unsuited for baseball, resembling mid-March weather instead of the end of May, and the handful of hardy fans who braved the wintry blasts were no doubt well pleased that the game was run off in the fast time of one hour and 20 minutes. There was little color or excitement in the game, the fans for the most part suffering in chilled and apathetic silence. The lone exception was a diminutive Paoli rooster, who caused considerable annoyance to Chief Umpire Clark by his habit of wandering out on the playing field to encourage the Paoli boys. He was finally induced to desist by a stern warning from Sergeant Girvin, but he continued to lend vociferous vocal support to the cause of the Western invaders. According to reports, however, this effervescent gentleman had taken the precaution of warming himself internally by methods forbidden to good citizens by the Eighteenth amendment.

To get back to the subject of baseball, the Paoli club, which boasts four very potent sluggers in Trost, Shank, Umbach and Verna, assailed the offerings of Dick Kent for 10 hits and also received considerable aid from two bad muffs in right field by Bob Martin in their accumulation of six runs. Meanwhile, Dave Trost, the genial veteran who this year transferred his allegiance from Berwyn to Paoli, had little trouble deceiving the Narberth batters, whom he held to five

FEELS FITTED FOR JOB

By THE SPECTATOR

More than once has Fred Walzer been groomed to be Montgomery's Sheriff, and evidence accumulates that next fall's primaries will find him a formidable contender for the nomination.

In all parts of the county, it is said, leaders are espousing his cause and in his own particular bailiwick of Narberth, it is claimed that the Republicans of all factions are united in his support.

His personal popularity, as a result of thirty-two years' residence in the Borough, where, it is pointed out, he has always been active and highly effective in advancing the interest of

MANY IN PARADE

Plans are complete for Narberth's Memorial Day observance, which, as in former years, will include a parade and program at the War Memorial in front of the Community Building. Presentation of the American Legion medals to school pupils and an address by the Rev. W. W. Hall, chaplain of the regiment of which Harold D. Speakman was a member, will feature the program.

The parade will form at the fire house on Forest Avenue at 9 A. M. The order of march will be as follows: Marshal and police escort, band of 20 pieces, Legion colors and guard, Civil War veterans (the Rev. Henry Clay Shindle and Henry Doll), gold star mothers (Mrs. Emma D. Speakman

Haws Buys Fixtures of Narberth
Electric Shop, for Own New Hardware Store.

OTHER TRANSACTIONS

Several business changes have been going on in Narberth this week, with Walter Case's Narberth Electric Shop as the centre of interest. Spirited bidding and a large gathering marked the bankruptcy sale of stock and fixtures held Tuesday.

Fixtures were purchased by William Howard Haws, who for the past year managed the Narberth Hardware Store. He plans to open the former electric shop next week as a hardware store of his own, with a general line of house furnishings.

Colonel A. A. Kiesler has combined with Ezekiel Ralston, Jr., who has a hardware store in Collingdale, and who is now managing the Colonel's Narberth Hardware Store. Mr. Ralston's entire business life has been spent in the hardware trade.

Meanwhile, Walter Case is carrying on his electrical contracting and jobbing business.

A new arrival in the borough is Louis Gibboni, proprietor of a barber shop in Glenside, who has enlarged his haircutting, shaving, etc., service to include Narberth. He has taken over the barber shop next door to the fire hall, on Forest Avenue. This shop was the first of its kind in Narberth.

and Mrs. Ella V. Smith), Miller-Merkle Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars of Narberth and Bala-Cynwyd; Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion, of Narberth; Narberth Borough Council, Boy Scout Troop, Girl Scout Troop, Narberth Public School pupils, St. Margaret's School pupils, Narberth Fire Company and apparatus. All ex-service men, whether or not members of the Legion, are invited to join in the parade.

Following the march around the principal streets of the borough the parade will disband at the Community Building, where the presentation of the American Legion medals will be made by the Post Commander, Frank A. Schrepfer. These medals are presented annually to the boy and girl in the Narberth Public School and St. Margaret's School who best exemplify the following qualities: honor, courage, scholarship, leadership and service. The recipients will be Dwight Mackell and Anita McFarland, of the Narberth Public School, and David J. Stroup and Ellen M. Daley, of St. Margaret's School.

The Rev. Hall, who is now minister of the Trinity Evangelical Church, of Scalp Level, Pa., enlisted in the 16th Pennsylvania Infantry in 1908. He was commissioned a Chaplain with the rank of captain in 1916 and served with his regiment on the Mexican border in 1916-17. During the World War he served in France with the 112th Infantry and was in the Champaigne-Marne, Aisne-Marne, Oise-Aisne, Meuse-Argonne, and St. Mihiel. He is now assigned to the 1317 Service Unit of the U. S. A. as a chaplain with rank of captain.

Graves of former members of the Post were decorated yesterday and a wreath will be placed on the Memorial at the Community Building on Saturday.

There will be the customary morning and afternoon ball games, Narberth opposing Bryn Mawr in the morning following the program at the Community Building and Oakmont in the afternoon fray.

Windsor Avenue will be closed to traffic from Conway Avenue to Wynnewood Road during the exercises at the Community Building.

Walter O'Sullivan, Legionnaire and former naval commander, will be marshal of the parade.

Seeks Nomination as Sheriff

the community, and befriending, in season and out, countless persons who have gone to him for counsel and service, is also advanced as a reason for drafting him into the higher realms of public office, and, it is stated, his nomination would be of distinct value in healing some of the wounds occasioned by the bitter strife of past elections.

In Bala-Cynwyd, Merion, Gladwyne, Ardmore and throughout the township, it is reported, the move to nominate Squire Walzer is regarded as a long-delayed recognition of this end of the county's right to some of the major offices, and on this score a lively fight is expected, it is said, if there is not a general concurrence in that viewpoint.

Mr. Walzer expressed himself this week as welcoming the opportunity to go into battle for the nomination and said that he had been induced to make the contest as a result of numerous requests which had come to him and by the promise of influential support in practically every section of the county.

"After 30 years of going and coming through Montgomery County," Mr. Walzer said, "I feel I can claim a wide acquaintance with all classes of our citizens, and in times like the present when the Sheriff's office ought to be conducted on humane lines, mindful always of the law and the regulations, I feel I am peculiarly fitted, as a result of an intensive experience with our people, to conduct the office in a manner which will conserve the public welfare and protect the interests which should be protected. Many others are of apparently the same opinion, and I seek the help of those who believe that this end of the county should be properly recognized and who resent the handling of public affairs in a spirit of indifference and a total disregard of the personal element. The taxpayers furnish the funds and the taxpayers shall be first and foremost in my administration. The outlook is decidedly cheerful, and now that my hat is definitely in the ring the voters are promised a stiff scrap for the nomination."

Mr. Walzer lives at 117 Windsor Avenue, Narberth, and at present is a Justice of the Peace. For a number of years he was identified with the State Department of Labor. For more than a generation he was connected with the Narberth Baseball Club as player and manager, achieving a long string of pennants in the latter capacity. At this time he is directing the activities of the Narberth Juniors.

A meeting to further his candidacy will be held in Narberth on June 10.

Great Crowd Expected at Valley Forge Tomorrow to Hear President's Address

Ardmore Man, Isaac R. Pennypacker, Chairman of Park Commission, to Introduce Hoover

ROUTE NOT DEFINITE

All roads will lead to Valley Forge tomorrow. Accommodations have been made at the Park for 200,000 people upon the occasion of President Hoover's Memorial Day address, the first time in its century and a half of history that this honor has befallen the historic shrine.

The program will begin promptly at 10:30 o'clock. Daylight-Saving Time, with the invocation by the Rt. Rev. Francis M. Tait, Bishop of the Diocese of Pennsylvania. To Isaac R. Penny-pack, of Ardmore, chairman of the Valley Forge Park Commission, will go the honor of presenting the people to the President (for such is the etiquette on this occasion).

The President's address, which will be broadcast over a nation-wide hook-up of stations, it is expected will last about a half hour. The benediction will be given by Dr. Frank Aydelotte, president of Swarthmore College. The singing of the national anthem will conclude the program.

President and Mrs. Hoover are expected to arrive in Philadelphia Friday afternoon. They will attend a banquet at the Union League, at which a portrait of the President by Pilei Costa will be presented to him.

President Hoover's route from the city to Valley Forge will not be decided upon until Saturday morning, when the State Constabulary and secret service men go into conference. It is thought, however, that if the trip is made by motor, as it undoubtedly will, the route will be through Fairmount Park and Montgomery Avenue to Valley Forge.

Connections for Park

A twenty-minute schedule will be maintained by the Philadelphia and Western Railway from Sixty-ninth Street to Strafford station, connecting with busses of the Chester Valley Line direct to the Park. Busses of the Montgomery Bus Company, running along Lancaster Pike on a fifteen-minute schedule, will also connect with the Chester Valley Line to the Park.

Two Main Line expresses of the Reading Railway leaving Philadelphia at 8:36 and 10:36 will stop at Valley Forge. The Pennsylvania Railroad will stop all Schuylkill Valley trains at Betzwood, across the river from Valley Forge, and transfer passengers to the reservation by bus.

Best motor routes from the Main Line to the Park: Lancaster Avenue (Lincoln Highway) to Devon, then north onto Route 83 to Valley Forge, or Montgomery Avenue to King of Prussia, where Route 223 is picked up and followed to Valley Forge.

Before and after the President's address the carillon of Washington Memorial Chapel will be played by Alexander McCurdy, organist of the Second Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia. Mr. McCurdy has been a student of Anton Brees, of the Curtis Institute of Music, and has given numerous carillon concerts at the Bok Singing Tower in Mountain Lake, Fla.

Escorts to the Presidential party at the Park will be the First City Troop of Philadelphia and the 108th Field Artillery, in command of Colonel William A. March, secretary of the Park Commission. Fully 2000 troops are expected to flank the course to the grounds.

No parking will be allowed on the roads about the Park, but several parking fields have been arranged at short distances from the scene of the ceremonies. The Gulph Road, running along the whole length of the Park, will be kept open to traffic.

An amplifying system has been installed so that persons not able to get near the speakers' stand may hear the address clearly.

Narberth Hardware Store Loses, and Gains Manager

Harry Hamer, whose delicatessen at 250 Haverford Avenue has been doing a growing business, is opening this Friday three stalls (Numbers 622-4-6) at the Reading Terminal Market, for the sale of pork products and all kinds of smoked goods. He plans to continue operation of his delicatessen here, with the aid of Miss Marion Brearty, who will be in charge in daytime, while he manages it at night. His Narberth shop was opened by Mr. Hamer January 1, 1928, after Case's Narberth Electric Shop had moved across the street to its recent location, 241 Haverford Avenue.

Pool Operators Win Verdict From Bryn Mawr Trust Co.

A settlement was reached last week in the case of Lewis J. Rudolph, of Manor Road, Wynnewood, and Cortlandt Johnson, against the Bryn Mawr Trust Company, while it was under way before Judge J. Ambler Williams. The jury was directed to return a verdict for the plaintiffs of $968.75, liquidating damages for the alleged failure of the Trust Company to carry out provisions of the alleged lease of the Brynwood Manor Swimming Pool on Montgomery Avenue, Narberth. The Bryn Mawr Trust Company in its affidavit of defense charged that the plaintiffs had violated their original agreement in failing to erect bath houses in compliance with the Borough's building regulations, and that bathers were permitted to dress and undress about the premises without proper buildings.

Youth Arrested for Spreading Bank Rumor

Narberth National Officials Cause Arrest of Stone-hurst Boy

HAS HEARING TONIGHT

What is believed to be the first arrest made in Pennsylvania for violation of the State law regarding the spreading of false rumors about banks was made last Saturday by Magistrate Fred Walzer, of Narberth, on a warrant sworn out by Carl B. Metzger and J. L. McCrery, president and cashier, respectively, of the Narberth National Bank.

The youth arrested, Marcellus W. Ware, of Chatham Road, Stonehurst, was released on $1000 bail after being charged with violation of Section 7931 of the State law, by "making and circulating false rumors."

The arrest followed a rumor which was brought to Mr. McCrery's attention by a stockholder, H. C. Fenno, of Essex Avenue, Narberth. Tracked down through the aid of a business partner of Mr. Fenno's, Thomas G. Farrell, of Brookline, to whom the youth had confided the tale, it resulted in Ware's arrest, the first to be made by local bank officials and police since Dr. William D. Gordon, State Secretary of Banking, issued his ultimatum about the spreading of false rumors last week.

A further hearing on the case will be held by Magistrate William R. Emerick at the Haverford Township police station tonight at 8 o'clock.

Held Up and Robbed

George W. Bottoms, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bottoms, of 501 S. Narberth Avenue, Narberth, was held up and robbed shortly after midnight last Friday night. Bottoms had just put his car away in the garage and was walking towards his house when held up by a man with a gun. The bandit disappeared with what money Bottoms had in his pocket. He could furnish no description of the thief.

Sun Didn't Shine

Pulitzer Prize Awards Are on Library's Shelves

Once more the Pulitzer awards. Without discussing the justice of the selections made by the Award Committee, the Library announces that it has ready for distribution the poetry, the drama, the novel that won for their authors this honor.

While the collection of Robert Frost's poems contains little that is new of his, nearly all having been published earlier in smaller volumes, the book is worth rereading, for Frost has long been recognized as belonging to the front rank of poets and his reputation grows steadily each year.

Those who have not read Mrs. Barnes' novel, "Years of Grace," and the Library records prove its popularity, will be glad to do so. It is an entertaining story of three generations depicting American life.

The third winner in the Library's possession is "Alison's House," by Susan Glaspell. It is supposed to be based on the life of Emily Dickenson, though the scene is laid in Iowa. It follows the current tale of recently discovered letters revealing the frustrated love of Emily Dickenson, and in so doing employs an exciting plot. The play has been performed in New York by Eva Le Gallienne, and will be presented here in Philadelphia, though under other auspices, next winter.

Against Widening Road

To the Editor:

I would like to raise my voice in protest against the proposed widening of Old Gulph Road. There must be many people who live in the city who do not drive out of the town only for the purpose of speeding and who still care to go on roads where they may enjoy seeing old trees, green banks and wild flowers along the side of the road, and who can enjoy wide streets and curbs to their heart's content in their city driving. It seems so very wrong to destroy the trees which can never be replaced, and after all a road twenty-four feet wide gives plenty of room for parking on one side and for two cars to pass each other.

Memorial Day

A day set apart is Memorial Day To honor our soldiers who fell by the way.

Those heroes of ours, so brave and so true,
Who fought for our flag, the red, white and blue.

They gave to their country all that they could give
That our nation in honor and safety might live.
And oh, we love them for what they have done,
For the battles they fought and the victories won.

How quickly they answered their country's first call,
Leaving homes, wives and babies, they gave up their all.
We think of them proudly and sadly we lay
The flags and the flowers we've brought here today.

We place on their graves our tokens of love,
And we whisper a prayer to the Father above
That He will remember those heroes of ours
As we cover them over with beautiful flowers.

We hope in the future that never again
We'll be called on to sacrifice women and men.

But that we'll agree we well can afford
To let reason rule instead of the sword.

Another Forward Step

All in their own good time and as quite a surprise to residents, the Lower Merion Commissioners have decided to institute free collection of ashes and rubbish for the Township.

This matter was first advocated by the Ardmore Community Council, a step-child of the Ardmore Chamber of Commerce, and transferred by the Council to the Community Health and Civic Association. This organization actively interested itself in behalf of the project, soliciting support from the civic and service organizations and women's clubs throughout the Township. Before the results of the survey being made by the Community Health and Civic Association could be fully ascertained, however, the Commissioners, to whom ash collection was no new proposition, got their heads together, and lo it is on the books.

All of which goes to show that sometimes the Board of Commissioners takes action independently on their own best judgment without waiting to be petitioned and cajoled into adopting some measure designed for the public good.

The method by which ashes and trash will be collected from the rear house line, and just visible from the street, eliminates the objectionable feature of ashes and rubbish containers lining curbs and littering up lawns and generally making an unsightly mess out of charming streets.

In its method of procedure Lower Merion will follow the Narberth system rather than that in vogue in Haverford Township where curb collections are employed. It is rumored that Narberth, as though to keep one step ahead of Lower Merion in this matter, is contemplating removal of ashes and trash from the cellars, saving residents the trouble of carting their ash cans outside.

A Successful Season

With its concert on Sunday evening, the Main Line Orchestra completed its eighth and most successful season. The personnel of the orchestra is greater than in past years and represents a higher standard of musicianship. Its concerts have been attended by music lovers of the section in larger numbers than ever before. The Redwood String Quartet, composed of members of the Orchestra, gave its first public recital this spring, reflecting much credit upon their individual ability and the group from which they came.

It is in a way unfortunate that the presence in Philadelphia of a great professional symphony orchestra overshadows the work which is being done in presenting orchestral music on the Main Line. But more and more music lovers are realizing the high caliber of playing which our Main Line Orchestra is doing and patronizing its concerts accordingly.

It is a public enterprise held together by those who give of their time and money to the end that our cultural life be that much the richer. All residents of the Main Line should regard the success of the Orchestra as an individual responsibility.

Zoning Again

The matter of revising the Narberth Zoning Ordinance has been under consideration for some months. Just when it was thought all changes had been incorporated in a new Ordinance, along comes a petition to include Windsor Avenue from Narberth to Essex in a business district. So now we are almost back where we started with another public hearing scheduled for next Thursday, June 4. Not quite where we were, as the Montgomery Avenue question seems to have been decided in favor of business.

Arguments for the inclusion of that section of Windsor Avenue defined above in the business district seem to centre around the fact that properties there have been rendered unsatisfactory for residential purposes due to the gradual progress of business up Narberth, Forest and Essex Avenues and the concomitant annoyances of traffic and parking at their doors. Residents wish rather to have restrictions on their properties lifted with a view to possible sale than any definite idea of erecting stores or other business establishments immediately.

NEWS SHORTS

A prize winner. First prize for Pennsylvania in a contest conducted by the League of Nations Association, Inc., was awarded to Miss Mildred McCormick, 21, a senior at Rosemont College. Miss McCormick is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. McCormick, of 6347 Woodbine Avenue, Overbrook, and a niece of Cardinal Dougherty. Her thesis was entitled "The Political and Economic Aspects of the United States of Europe."

Car hits bus. Three students of the Mater Misericordiae Academy, Montgomery Avenue, Merion, were injured Tuesday when their car collided with a bus at Bowman Avenue and Wynnewood Road, Merion. The girls were: Eleanor Smith, of Drexel Hill; Margaret Wright, of Overbrook, and Catherine Blair, of the Academy.

Burglar suspect caught. The arrest of one William Collins, colored, last Saturday by Springfield Township police is believed to have cleared up a number of robberies in the western part of the Main Line during the winter and early spring. Articles found on him and pawn tickets have given police sufficient evidence to convince them he is their man. Following trial in Delaware County he will be brought to Chester County for trial.

Exchequer full! A balance of $937,673.86 in the Montgomery County Treasury was reported for the month by Comptroller William C. Irvin on Wednesday. The month's expenses will run about $261,000.

Flee scantily clad. Fire in the home of George Willis, 125 Ardmore Avenue, Ardmore, early Monday morning caused the sudden exit of six members of the household. Firemen of the Merion Fire Company of Ardmore, battling the flames for half an hour, got it under control. The fire is believed to have started from coals in an open fireplace. Damage of several hundred dollars was caused to the living room.

Urge co-operation. Closer co-operation between local police departments and the State police was urged by Captain Gearhart, of the State Constabulary, at a meeting of the Montgomery County Police Chiefs' Association, held at Ardmore last Thursday night. Lower Merion's Superintendent of Police, Charles P. Smith, presided.

Their last ride. Two Bryn Mawr men, Joseph Caccia, 33, and Clarence E. Grove, 23, racing driver and mechanic, were instantly killed on Tuesday when their car leaped off the Speedway at Indianapolis, struck a tree and burst into flames. The machine was tuning up for the Memorial Day races, making 105 miles per hour at the time of the tragedy.

Edwards; Spanish War, William G. Hower, Ardmore. Wayne and Bryn Mawr Legion Posts were represented by Joseph Cairns, William A. Johnson and Guier S. Wright, respectively.

Independent Merchants are the backbone of every community and are deserving of support. Thinking people who are interested in local institutions must realize that money spent outside their home town is a ruinous drain of its life-blood so necessary in the development, growth and prosperity of any worth-while town. It is also natural that outside corporations doing business in local communities are now particularly interested in local enterprise.

Narberth — Today and tomorrow, Douglas Fairbanks in "Reaching for the Moon," not quite the old Doug, but still an entertaining picture; Monday and Tuesday, "The Painted Desert" has Helen Twelvetrees and William Boyd in the cast; Wednesday and Thursday, "Honor Among Lovers," sophisticated sex drama, handled with skill and intelligence, not for adolescents; Friday and Saturday Will Rogers as "A Connecticut Yankee," wonderful entertainment.

Egyptian — Today and tomorrow, "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," Buster Keaton is not as funny as in his silent pictures; Monday and Tuesday, "It's a Wise Child," a risqué comedy with Marion Davies, based on "The Bachelor Father," may offend some patrons, though handled with discretion; Wednesday and Thursday, "Gentleman's Fate," John Gilbert and Louis Wolheim in a better than average gangster picture, not recommended for the youngsters; Friday and Saturday, "Dishonored," an excellent picture featuring Marlene Dietrich.

Mental Hygiene in Industrial Relations Is Rotary Subject

Dr. Baldwin L. Keyes, chief of the Child Psychiatric Clinic of Jefferson Hospital, was the speaker Tuesday at the meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club. He was introduced by Dr. Barclay L. Jones.

Dr. Keyes spoke on the subject of mental hygiene in industrial relations, attacking the problem from the viewpoints of efficiency and social betterment. He told of the changed psychology of workers taken from creative handwork and put on a machine, with a resultant loss of enthusiasm.

Rest periods for workers was shown to be a factor increasing efficiency and lowering the accident rate. In some cases quoted by the speaker, the creation of a 10-minute recess in the morning and afternoon has increased efficiency 25 per cent.

The problem of mental cases was discussed. "The difficulty," Dr. Keyes said, "is not in the cure of a mental case at the hospital, but in the restoral of the cured patient to society."

Junior Club Ends Season With Gay Dinner Party

The Junior Community Club season ended gayly on Thursday evening with a dinner for the members held in the private dining room of an Ardmore restaurant. The table was festive with souvenirs and flowers arranged by the committee in charge of Miss Margaret Kent and Miss Alberta Davis, and there were places laid for twenty-five.

At the call of the retiring president, Mrs. Clifford Goodwin, the officers for the past year read very comprehensive reports of the season's accomplishments, and Mrs. Goodwin ended with a resume of the work as she viewed it, expressing her appreciation to the officers, chairmen, committees and members, who had given their support so ably through the year. She then formally turned over the president's chair and gavel to Mrs. C. Ellsworth Clark, who will preside over the club next year. Mrs. Clark accepted with a short but compelling speech concerning her hopes and aspirations for the club's success next season. The club then presented Mrs. Goodwin with an attractive table lamp which was meant to express in some measure their appreciation of her able leadership during her two years of office. To Mrs. Clark, with an expression of welcome to office, was given a lovely corsage of roses and lilies of the valley. After the dinner, the girls attended a local theatre and proceeded to finish the evening in real party fashion with plenty of chatter and refreshments, at the home of Mrs. Michael Talone, in Ardmore.

Throughout the summer the girls who have been appointed chairmen of committees by the new president, Mrs. Clark, expect to lay great plans for immediate resumption of festivities in the fall. Mrs. Bernard F. Keenan, the senior club's representative to act as chairman of the juniors, is taking a keen interest in all junior activities and will no doubt be a strong "tie that binds" between senior and junior organizations.—J. By ROBERT J. EDGAR

And soon will come the early June flower shows. Let us remember that a flower stem should have foliage and that the foliage should be clean and not insect marked. Peonies and roses should be shown with only a terminal flower; all side buds should be carefully removed now. Irises should have all flowers open when judged. Stems and foliage count in roses. Peonies and roses in arrangements may have side buds or more than one flower on a stem; in fact, many look better with several fully open or partly opened flowers. Oriental poppies should be cut very early on the morning of the show and kept in deep water and shade. started buds showing color will open up. Pink peonies will show a better color if cut before fully open and kept shaded; the sun soon lightens the color when fully opened.

What will we have for the flower shows? Plenty! We always do have a lot of flowers in early June if we will but seek them out and show them. If the earlier ones have passed their prime the later ones will be on hand.

An herb garden takes little space and may well be tucked in a corner near the kitchen door where the cook may find a sprig of parsley, some leaves of sage, a little savory, sweet marjoram and thyme. All of the foregoing may be raised from seed. For tarragon, rosemary and peppermint we must buy or collect plants. In the good old days there was a long, cooling drink made with peppermint leaves, just bruised; they were awfully good, but—ve will try our imagination on grape juice. A dwarf boxwood hedge makes a good edging for the herb garden.

The names of those pretty pink Oriental poppies are Mrs. Perry and Jeannie Mawson. They should be ordered now for early fall planting.

Still plenty of time to sow out annuals for fall flowering, and the seedsman has the seeds.

Plant some gladiolus bulbs and then plant more in June for September flowers.

Dahlia tubers or plants may be set out any time up to June 4; in fact, the later the better. We want our dahlias in late September and early October.

Not too late to set out or divide hardy chrysanthemums.

Aphids do great damage to flower buds, they suck the life blood of the plant at the tenderest place. Nicotine sulphate and soap is the old method of control and is for aphids only. The newer pyrethrum-soap sprays are for both sucking and chewing insects and may be called all-around insecticides. Pyrethrum sounds expensive, but when we consider that a little goes a very long way it is a good investment in protection.

Speaking of a little going a long way, consider a head of dandelion seeds.

The tulip borders do look a bit bad when the flowers have dropped. Next time set out plants of sweet-william in front of the tulips. William will pop up and cover the dying leaves—and of course we know that the foliage must remain if we want the tulips to flower next year. Or we may remove the tulips with foliage, heel them in to ripen, dry them well and replant them in the fall.

Penn Valley Garden Club to Visit Lloyd Garden

Next Tuesday members of the recently organized Penn Valley Garden Club will view the garden of Mrs. Horatio Gates Lloyd, of "Allgates," on Coopertown Road, Haverford.

The club, which numbers about thirty-six residents of Penn Valley, is the most recent garden club to be launched in the Main Line section. Its officers are: Mrs. J. Bruce Byall, president; Mrs. Eugene Jordan, vice president; Mrs. Richard T. Dooner, secretary, and Mrs. E. Burke Wilford, treasurer.

At the next regular meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Wilford later in June, the constitution and by-laws will be acted upon.

It is hoped to work out a regular schedule of garden visits, and a flower

Moth Ball Time!

... Putting winter clothing in summer storage suggests that "winter will come again." Have you ordered your coal supply?

It P-A-Y-S to put in the winter's coal during warm weather. . . . The price is better, your household expenses then are lighter, and it makes you surer of next winter's comfort. Remember, too, the Anthracite we now are delivering is the cleanest coal we ever sold.

Orchestra Presents Seventh Symphony in Final Concert

The most ambitious program yet attempted was presented by the Main Line Orchestra in its final concert of the season at the Ardmore Theatre on Sunday evening before a good-sized audience.

The feature of the program was Beethoven's Seventh Symphony, considered by many critics as one which makes very considerable demands upon the skill of even the best professional orchestras. It was remarkably well played throughout, perhaps the best work being done in the finale, if any movement were to be singled out. The tone of the orchestra was very fine in the beautiful allegretto. Throughout the symphony the organization was under the complete control of the conductor, Adolph Vogel.

Two short numbers, a fragment from a Handel concerto and a Sicilienne by Bach, were first on the program, both of them excellently played.

The second half of the program contained an arioso by Bach for strings alone, the valse from Delibes' "Coppelia" ballet; Rubinstein's "Kamenoi-Ostrow" with practically a solo harp part played by Dorothy Johnstone Baseler, and Borodin's "Dance of the Archers," from "Prince Igor."

The latter part of the program, like the first, showed excellent tone and co-ordination by the orchestra. Mrs. Baseler's performance on the harp in the Rubinstein work was particularly pleasing.

The ovation from the audience at the conclusion of the program brought the conductor, Mr. Vogel, back again and again until he mounted the stand and repeated the charming "Dance of the Archers."

May Queen at Penn

MISS JOSEPHINE LANDIS daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Landis, of Ardmore, who presided as Queen over the May Festival staged last Saturday by the Women's Athletic Association of the University of Pennsylvania. Miss Landis, a senior in the school of education, is valedictorian of her class and president of the Student Government Association.

In Memory's Name

Just three-score years and ten
That civil strife began,
Which steeped a nation's life in woe
And wrung the heart of man.
The vintage from the grapes of wrath
Poured forth a crimson wave
That swept rebellion from its path
And freed the fettered slave.

But let us not recall those years
Of horror and of strife,
For time has brushed away the tears
And granted nobler life
Unto our nation one and true,
Purged by baptismal flame,
For now the Gray as well as Blue
Revere its honored name.

For side by side they fought and died
Against the Teuton bold,
And 'neath one starry banner viewed
Its honor to uphold.
The "bloody shirt" was buried deep
In trenches "over there,"
And side by side they sleep the sleep
A hero's grave to share.

So on this thirtieth day of May,
That honored, holy date,
Our nation's sacred holiday,
Once more we celebrate.
In memory's name with flowers sweet
We'll strew the graves once more
Of those who feared no foe to meet,
Whose battles all are o'er.

And if perchance, no trophies rise
To mark their resting place,
Fond memories still with eager eyes
Will never fail to trace.
And if their graves we cannot wreath
With garlands fresh and fair,
In memory's name we'll softly breathe
A fervent, silent prayer.
—Edwin Smith.

The Main Line School of Music announces an interesting ensemble concert for Friday evening, June 5, at St. Mary's Parish House, Ardmore.

Three Junior pupils will appear in Concertos by Weber and Beethoven. Ten players from the Main Line Orchestra will furnish the accompaniment with Adolph Vogel conducting. The pianists are Mary Andrews, Arnold Fletcher and Harry Wood.

In the Theater

Repertory Play Tuesday

The Main Line Repertory Theatre chose as its last play of the season the comedy by Oscar Wilde, "The Importance of Being Earnest." It is a particularly good choice for the early summer, a charmingly fresh and interesting comedy done in Wilde's inimitable sparkling dialogue. It promises to be the brilliant climax of an interesting season.

It will be presented at the clubhouse of the Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd, on Tuesday, June 2. The cast will include Dorothy Loder, Eleanor Payne, Mary Stone, Cynthia Flannery, Moira Flannery, John Creighton, Marshall Smith, George Lichtey and Royal McGeorge. The play is directed by Robert Rowland Deardon, 3d, of Jenkintown.

Hedgerow's Program
Performances for next week at the Hedgerow Theatre will begin on Tuesday evening, when Lynn Riggs' new robust comedy of Oklahoma life, "Roadside," is given, with Harry Bellaver and Cele McLaughlin in the leading roles. On Wednesday another comedy will be presented, Musselman's story of difficulties in a stock company, "Merry - Go - Round." Shakespeare's "Othello" is scheduled for Thursday, with Wayland Rudd as the Moor, Miriam Phillips as Desdemona, and Ferd Nofer as Iago.

Chiarelli's Italian comedy, "The Mask and the Face," which presents a Count whose sense of honor is too rash for his affections, is the play for tomorrow night and for next Friday, with Jasper Deeter as Count Grazia and Kay Roma as the much-heset Countess.

The policy of giving Saturday matinees will be instituted tomorrow, when Susan Gilaspell's "Inheritors" returns for its traditional Memorial Day presentation. Frances Torchiana is to play the role of "Madeline." Eugene O'Neill's "The Emperor—Jones" is the show for next Saturday's matinee, to be followed at night by Synge's controversial Irish comedy, "The Playboy of the Western World," in its first performance this season.

G. B. Shaw is being represented in the repertory for the first time this season at Hedgerow tonight by his American Revolutionary period comedy, "The Devil's Disciple."

Coach Albert Adam and his track boys deserve credit for their splendid efforts at Altoona last Saturday. They came within three points of a State championship.

"What I aspired to be, and was not, comforts me."

That's the way Robert Browning felt about it, anyway. It's too bad the good old Maroon team can't get that extra break, or sump'n which will carry them right on to the heights of a State diadem.

Boys, you can't keep on scaling the heights without reaching the top. Some day the Maroon and White of your favorite school will wave in the breeze above them all, even that one last team that seems to come from nowhere and stop you just before the last step is taken.

It's mighty nice and pleasing to see young Harry Lott, of Cynwyd, win his first match in the Junior Middle States tennis tournament Tuesday at the Germantown Cricket Club.

As we close our column for the press we believe he will go much farther in this tournament, and here's wishing the Lower Merion tennis captain victory in the finals.

Clarence Grove, a Lower Merion High School boy, was one of "Our Boys" a few years ago. He met his untimely death Tuesday afternoon at Indianapolis in a speed trial on the Speedway, in a sport that is challenging in its element of danger and in the large rewards to the victor.

We will miss Clarence's ready smile and friendly greeting.

Dave Ridge and Bob Taylor, two first-place guys.

Dick Segel has enough medals from his track efforts this year to fill a pirate's chest. He can challenge Lindbergh to a match to see who has the most medals.

Lindbergh is better in the air, but we would bet on Dick in the field events.

Emmett Wynn is the best second baseman in the Suburban League. He's worth his weight in home runs. He had nine chances in the game against Norristown Tuesday without a bobbie.

Linny McCoy is a coming third baseman. He gets better every game and is looking the best of the lot this season.

Victor Newburg is rapidly developing into the finest catcher in the Suburban League. Vic's work in the Norristown game with a nail gone off his index finger of the throwing hand was splendid. He went from first to third on a short throw to second in the fifth inning. A nice play, one that would do credit to Ty Cobb in his prime. It's just such on-the-toes play that makes the team a champion outfit.

This column is impressed with the work of Seaver Rose at first base in his last two or three games. Quite an improvement, and the boy is a good ball player, too.

Think I'll go out and buy a package of "Doublemint" and help the Cubs along.

I've been feeling sorry for Hornsby lately, being an old chum of his'n.

Lower Merion Plays Errorless Ball to Down Norristown, 2-0, on Pennypacker Field

Lower Merion's excellent baseball team played the best brand of ball defensively that any Maroon team has shown this writer in the past eight years as they defeated Norristown High School Tuesday afternoon on Pennypacker Field, 2 to 0.

Not a single error marred the contest for the home clan, and the only error of the game was made in the eighth inning by the Norristown left fielder, and it had no bearing on the game's result at all. This is an unusual thing in high school baseball, and in the absence of the usual loose playing the teams looked like two big league outfits out there battling for the money.

Young Emmett Wynn, Captain Seaver Rose, Linwood McCoy and Lachman Rinehart pulled sparkling plays during the entertainment, which kept the fans in a fine humor throughout the game. Seaver at first base looked like a much improved player in his ability to stretch a little farther than usual to meet the ball as he shifted his dogs in big league fashion.

Lefty Durante pitched superb ball for the visitors after a disastrous second inning, when the Maroon got to him for four hits and two runs. The most devastating blow of all was struck by Rinehart. His bludgeon knocked the ball into the stands in center field, a blow usually good for a homer, but this time fate played him a mean trick and the ball caromed back into the playing field and he only got a double. To make matters worse, he was thrown out trying to make third.

"Bing" Odiorne pitched a beautiful game for the home town boys. He allowed only two hits to the ninth inning, but he almost lost his game when allowed three hits in rapid succession. Two were out when Lachman Rinehart threw a perfect peg home from right field to kill Dull at the plate for the final out of the game. It was a sparkling play and a wonderful throw, dead to the pan.

Narberth Firemen Win From Cynwyd Fire Co.

Narberth's fast stepping Firemen's nine won another victory last Friday night when they flattened the Cynwyd Fire Company, last year's champions, by the score of 3-2.

Manager Dick Blessing, who caught last week, showed his versatility by taking the mound himself and twirling a first-class game, holding the heavy-hitting visitors to four hits. Dick also was instrumental in scoring the winning run when he smacked a double in the sixth inning and scored on Powell's single. Narberth's other runs were driven in by a mighty triple, which landed in Windsor Avenue, from the bat of Ben Yowell, the center fielder, which sent Gallagher and Callahan across the plate. The fielding feature of the game was a leaping catch of Harvey Cook's line drive by C. Maxwell, which robbed the Narberth first sacker of a hit.

Lose to Penn Charter on Track

While Haverford was winning the baseball championship from their closest rivals, Penn Charter, the latter school's track team upset the Main Line team in a meet at Queen Lane last Friday afternoon, 51 to 48. Clem English, star Haverford man, took four first places in the track events for a total of 20 points. This was a brilliant individual performance in any meet, and the followers of inter-academic sports will watch him with interest this week to see what he will do in the league championships.

Maroon Easily Trims Radnor in Annual Game

Bill Anderson took his Maroon ball club to Radnor last Friday for the annual fuss between the two bitter rivals. Lower Merion, for a change, demonstrated what they could do when lined up against a red-jerseyed gang from the neighboring town of Wayne, and they lambasted the enemy's star hurler, Mongiello, for thirteen hits and thirteen runs.

"Soup" Campbell, lefthander and speed ball pitcher, twirled steady ball for the Maroon until the final two innings, and he was relieved by Odiorne when the opposing batsmen became obstreperous. The final score was 13 to 8. Lower Merion played lackadaisical ball after they piled up a 13-to-2 lead in the early innings, and it was necessary to prod them along to keep the spirit of victory from departing in disgust.

Thomas, Rose and Rinehart hit for three bingles apiece, as did Mongiello and O'Dorisio, of Radnor. Rose and O'Dorisio hit the agate for home runs.

Haverford School Winner in Interacademic League

The Interacademic League wound up the season last Friday in what may be called a blaze of glory in some quarters. Haverford School won the championship for the first time in a number of years, due mostly to the sterling pitching of "Ike" Jeaves, a tall righthander who listens attentively to what Coach Charlie Gault has to say to him.

Big Tom Welch, former Upper Darby hurler, pitched a no-hit, no-run performance for his new love, Friends' Central School, against Montgomery Day. This was a seven-inning stretch, sufficient for the Friends to pile up an 8-to-0 score. The hitting was evenly divided among the members of Crate's team.

Second place remains a tie in the league between Friends' Central, Penn Charter and Chestnut Hill Academy.

Stamp Issue Delayed

The Red Cross commemorative stamp, announced recently by the post office, has been delayed in issuance, due to the fact that it is a bicolored stamp, which reduces the capacity of the presses. The stamp, of two-cent denomination, is now on sale in the larger cities and local offices expect supplies any day.

Altoona Noses Out L. M. For State Track Title

By TOMMY MACKLIN

Lower Merion High School bombarded the heights of a State championship again last Saturday, when they came within a few inches of the summit at Altoona in the annual track and field championships sponsored by the P. I. A. A.

We had predicted a victory for the proteges of Albert Adam, but they failed us by three points. Altoona High School, the most dangerous of the contestants, forged ahead in the final two events to maintain their slight lead of two points over the locals. Forty-one points were run up by the mountain school, while the Maroon could only tabulate an approximate thirty-nine.

Lower Merion scored firsts in a couple of unexpected quarters, while two other expected firsts only finished seconds. Dave Ridge, captain-elect of the football team for next fall, won the pole vault with a height of ten feet six inches. Bob Taylor won the broad jump with a leap of nineteen feet four inches.

Track is a sport difficult to predict when it comes to picking winners in a free-for-all like the State meets. If Harrisburg had been represented instead of Lancaster, Lower Merion would have won the meet, but Lancaster cut deeply into the Maroon's field points, just the place where they are strongest. Harrisburg is strong in sprints and would not have interfered with L. M. piling up the points in field events. Such is the life of a track coach.

George Muller, neighbor from Haverford Township High School, brought a little glory to his school and team by winning the individual pole vault in a new State record altitude, eleven feet six and one-quarter inches. The hard rain throughout the day marred what would have been a day of records if the sun had been out and the track dry and hard.
